PREFACE

I am well aware that this compilation is very incomplete, but I believe it to be the best that can be made at this late date. I have inserted blank pages upon which may be noted corrections and additions.

I am greatly indebted to Mrs. Herbert W. Cady of New Rochelle, N. Y.; to Miss Caroline Tousey Burkham of No. 37 West 49th St., New York; to Mrs. Robert D. MaGill, of Danville, Pa.; to Mrs. F. Marian Wigmore, of Evanston, Ill.; to the late Mr. E. B. Porter, Indianapolis; to Cyrus Levi Tousey, Plainwell, Mich; to Mrs. John Williams and Miss Emma Tousey, of Grand Rapids, Mich., and Miss Ann Blackman, of Newtown, Conn.; to Mrs. Rose and others, for very able and painstaking assistance in securing and arranging the material for the record.

PRELIMINARY

SAYBROOK, Conn., was first settled in 1635.

In "Old Paths and Legends of the New England Border" I find the following:

"The future of Saybrook (at the blue Connecticut's mouth) once hung on the fate of a small craft, The Bachelor, bound from London to the little town of Boston, and scarcely more fit to face old Ocean's frown than a Dutch cradle. She carried as passengers Lion Gardiner, his young Dutch wife, her maid servant, and one other.

A few short weeks before, Gardiner was Engineer and Master of Fortifications in the legers of the Prince of Orange and now through the persuasion of Mr. John Davenport and Mr. U. Peters of Rotterdam, he had made an agreement for $100 per annum for four years, in the making of a city or forts of defense in New England, for certain Englishmen of high degree, and Republican opinions. They were a small but powerful company of pantentees, including some distinguished Commoners with two daring and popular men as leaders, Lord Say and Sele, and Richard Greville, Lord Brooke, later of 'rusty Warwick, founded by King Cymbeline in the twilight ages.'

These noblemen had sternly resolved to brook no longer the despotism of Kings and Courts, but to place the wide Atlantic between themselves and the erring throne of the faithless Charles; therefore they had purchased of a lover of the Puritans, Robert, Earl of Warwick, his splendid American domain (being the patent of Connecticut) extending from Narragansett Bay to the South Sea. The distinguished engineer, Lieutenant Lion Gardiner, retainer of the 'Fighting Veres', and officer under Sir Thomas Fairfax in the Wars of France with the Low Countries, was engaged to build a fort and a city of solid grandeur at Connecticut River, whose rich meadows were already celebrated in England. In their Dream City; their Carcassonne, where one day peace, freedom and wealth should meet together, they saw visions of yonder serene green fields of Saybrook, crowded with jostling drays loaded with robes of beaver, otter, mink and fox, shipped by successful merchants in many masted ships from Saybrook's creaking wharves.

These noblemen promised Gardiner to send him a company of 300 good men to aid in forming the settlement, and to protect it from the Indians, but there were many delays and some time elapsed before any additions were made to the little company."

I note further:

"When the trailing arbutus wove its pink carpet of blossoms in Saybrook, Mistress Gardiner looked eagerly across the ramparts for vessels with news from home, and for one flying the English flag with the promised '300 able men' on board to fortify, till the soil and build houses, ere the 'men of quality' should arrive to occupy the great squares of the future city."

Was Richard Tousey one of that promised "300 able men"?

Without positive evidence of the fact, but from circumstances, and from records which I have been able to secure, I have come to the conclusion that he was; or that he came to Saybrook soon afterwards. My conclusion is that Mr. Richard Tousey, a widower, came from England to Saybrook about 1655, or perhaps a few years earlier, leaving in England a son John and a son Thomas. That Thomas came to America in 1679, landing at Salem, Mass., and that the brother John remained in England and died there, leaving his estate to his brother Thomas in America.

My belief is based upon the following documents, traditions, etc., which I present in full:

In 1897 Mr. Frederick Wheeler Tousey, son of Renaldo Charles Tousey, was living at Cowes, Isle of Wight, England, and the following correspondence passed between him and Mrs. Cady, of New Rochelle, N. Y.:

"3 Cambridge Terrace,
East Cowes, I. W.,
England, Oct. 25, 1897.

Dear Mrs. Cady:— (New Rochelle, N. Y.)

You will no doubt be surprised to receive a letter from me, therefore, I will at once explain my reasons for writing you, viz: In the London Standard I saw the enclosed personal, and being somewhat of an inquisitive turn of mind I decided to investigate and so I answered the personal and in reply received a letter, a copy of which is enclosed.

..... F. W. Tousey."

(Enclosure)

"1 Marlborough Road,
London, N. W.

F. W. Tousey, Esq.

Dear Sir:—

In reply to your letter I am tracing out a pedigree of the family of Tousey. I have no doubt that your family is a branch, and should very much like to have you send me further particulars. The Tousey family (in England) at present consists of three main branches, viz: The Touseys of Lymington, head branch, now represented by Capt. Francis William Tousey, Adj't 2d Batt. West York Regt. The Touseys of Blandford now represented by Vice Counsel Joseph Henry Tousey, Spezia, Italy. The London Touseys by my father of above address (27-9 Bunhill Row) Liverman of the Plumbers and Books Companies, City of London. There are some Touseys in the States, children of an older brother of my father, named Dr. Samuel Tousey, of Galveston, Texas. All the above Touseys trace their origin to William or Stephen Tousey of Administon, who had six sons, and landed about 1700-1800. The Tousey or Tousie family are supposed by some to be of French Huguenot origin, and by others to be a branch of the Touse family, which has a recorded pedigree at the Heralds College, dating from about the time of Edward III, or about 1640, where it stops.

Yours faithfully,

Frances P. Tousey."

Another letter to Mrs. Cady:

"East Cowes, I. W., Aug. 26, 1898.

3 Cambridge Terrace.

I hope eventually to show you the ancestors of Richard Tousey, who settled in Saybrook, Conn..... I have already traced the family back to 1547, but cannot say as yet if they are ours. I am in correspondence with Frances P. Tousey of London, who is working with me in tracing the genealogy of the family. I have two additions to the chart you sent me. My boy, Harold Francis, and the name of my brother Harry's wife, Susan B. Beach.

F. W. Tousey."

Extracts from letters from Frances P. Tousey:

"Nov. 2, 1899.

"1 Marlborough Road.

Your ancestor Richard Tousey is supposed to have come from Towersey, Bucks. It may interest you to know that the village of Towersey belonged to men (or min) Thanes named Tours in King Edward the Conqueror's time. The land was then called Eye or Eie. The Conqueror (as related in Doomsday book and other records) divided the land into Tours eye and Kings eye (now Touresy and Kingsey). He gave Tousie to Walter d'Albegue, a follower of his, who sublet it to the Pirot or Pyrot family. But the land came back to the possession of the Toursie family, (otherwise called Tours, Touri de'Tours, di Tourssie, d'Towersey and Towershaye, etc.) On the death of the last Albegue, the Towersey family gradually lost all the land to different people, but principally to the Abbots of Thamse, who were in possession until the seizure of all church property by Henry VIII. After the loss of their lands the Towerseys appeared to have lived for about fifty years at Great Hampton, Bucks, until 1580, when so far as England is concerned they totally disappeared, and there is no record of anything like the name until the Tousey appears at Reading about 1700..... Also the arms of the Towersey family were these three Tours or Axlets arranged with a Chivron."

"Aug. 4, 1900.

I have just heard of some more Touseys at Amesbury, Wiltshire."

"Aug. 27, 1898.

I think the town your people came from may have been Towersey in Oxfordshire. About contemporary with your Richard Tousey of Saybrook there was living a Richard Tousey at Reading, with a wife named Mary, who had a son baptized at St. Lawrence, Reading. This Richard Tousey I believe to be my direct ancestor and should not wonder if he were yours."

"Aug. 15, 1900.

In tracing back step by step my own pedigree I have found a large number of Touseys buried at Amesbury, Wilts, 1620-1700. In all there are about thirty entries in the parish register. The ones you will be interested in are the following:

1626 Anthonye Tousey and Dorothy Soper in April 17——

1676 Anthonye Tousey buried March 6.

This Anthonye Toyseye or Towsey had five children, all christened under the name of Towsey, namely:

1. Elizabeth, daughter of Anthonye, born May 7, 1626.

2. Anthonye, son of Anthonye, born June 10, 1627.

3. Alice, daughter of Anthonye, born April 26, 1629.

4. Dorothy, daughter of Anthonye, born March 9, 1633.

5. John, son of Anthonye, born March 18, 1637.

I can find no mention of a Richard Tousey, but as the same William Tousey was buried under the name of Tousey our being of the same family is practically proved. He was probably first cousin of the above William, as the dates seem to show. Your family came, or thought they came from Towsey, Towsley, Towersey, etc., in Oxfordshire, which we have taken as Towersey in Bucks, especially as the village is on the borders of Oxfordshire. Another village near it by the name of Great Hampton, contained the name of Touseys, (Towseys, Tousys, etc.) between 1500 and 1600. It is worthy of note that there are two villages near Amesbury called Tildsley and Tesbury (both with Norman churches).

There is a tradition in our family that there is a brass memorial tablet to the Sir William Tousey, dated about the conquest in the church at Tillshire, Wiltshire. As there is no such place I have always considered it a fable, but of course it might be one of the above churches. I have written the rector of Tildsley, but so far have received no answer. The Tousey or Towsie shield which has been used for about eight or ten generations, as follows: There is no crest or motto. (See shield opposite preface).

If you can find your ancestor Richard, 1650, was related to my ancestor Anthony Tousey, Towsey, there is no reason why you should not adopt it. The College of Arms do not recognize it as they say it has never been registered, but it has always been used by the family, and is to be found in Burke's Armory (an extensive work on Heraldry, now out of print, but to be found in many public libraries.) The family is without doubt a branch of the great Touse family, which has a recorded pedigree back to the Plantagenets time.

What I have discovered is not much, but it shows conclusively how the name got altered from Towesy to Tousey.

The following entries occur in the old parish register of Great Hampton, Bucks, in the then line.

Jacobus Tousey, A. D. 1557.

Filius Thomas Thowse et sixoris ejus sepultus fuit 10 Die Meusis, Novembus, A. D. 1558.

Towze Sepultus fuit 9 die meusis, Actobris.

Johannes Towze sepultus fuit 9 die meusis A. D. 1580.

Joane Towsey, wife of Thomas Towsey, was buried the 8th day of November, 1560.

Jacobus Trunan et Joanna Towze fuerit 21 die meusis Novembus A. D. 1577.

Henry Eversley and Alice Towsey were married 23d Nov.

From the above I construct the following tree:

Thomas Tousey m. Johaunes Tousey.

Children.

Jacobus Touse, Johanna Towse.

Children of Jacobus.

Thomas Tousey

Alice Tousey

Alice Tousey married Henry Eversley Nov. 15, 1577.

Johanna Towse married Jacobus Freeman in 1560.

The Parish Register at Adminton, Wilts, commences in 1577. Thomas Thowssey was alive in Buckingham in 1680.

The first man on my pedigree is William or Stephen Towsey, of Adminton, born I should say between 1700 and 1710. There is thus a gap of two hundred years in the pedigree. If you are inclined to take any trouble in the matter and are in the neighborhood of Edmonston, Wilts, I think it would be a good idea to examine the register.

You might come across your own ancestor who went to America."

Soon after this latter date Mr. Frederick Wheeler Tousey died and the correspondence terminated.

The following items are from records found in this country.

Newberry Library, Chicago.

New England History & Genealogical Register, Vol. 28, 1874, p. 376.

"1679.

The following extracts taken from papers contained in Vol. 32, leaves 19 to 22 inclusive.

'Essex County Court papers, having been used as evidence in the case of Mr. John Barton Cherurgeon vs. Capt. Nicholas Manning for non-payment according to agreement of two shillings and six pence per head for all the passengers that came over in the ship Hannah and Elizabeth from England to the number of 47 passengers.

"The names of all ye passengers that came in ye ship Hannah and Elizabeth. Mr. Lott Goarding, Commander, Capt. Nicholas Manning undertaker of ye ship."

Among the list is Mr. Thomas Tousey and his wife and child and his servant boy.

Then the following:

"Genealogical Gleanings in England."

New England History and Genealogical Register, Vol. 47 p. 123.

"John Towsey 10 March 1698-9, proved Sept. 19, 1709.

"I do give and bequeath unto Mrs. Abigal Henchman, widow, dwelling at this present in Boston in New England, the sum of 300 pounds, current money of New England, provided she be remaining in the state of widowhood at the time when this my last will and testament shall be in force and of good effect. The rest of my estate and goods of what kind soever I give unto my brother Thomas Towsey and his heirs forever, whom I constitute and appoint to be the whole and sole executor of this my last will and testament.

Wit, Abraham Adams,
Abigail Adams,
John Soames.

The records state that Thomas was a weaver by occupation, which at that time was an occupation peculiar to England, and it will be remembered that at that time in this country all weaving was done in the household. This may connect the Thomas who landed at Salem with the Thomas son of Richard at Wethersfield and Hartford, and the dates would seem to bear out this conclusion.

Then we have the following from Savage.

Thomas of Wethersfield, perhaps the son of the preceding (Richard) by a first wife, did not live in Wethersfield before 1674, was a weaver and enterprising man, had in company with William Pitkin had a fulling mill in Hartford.

With this preliminary statement I shall proceed with my record, trusting that some member of the family will make further research and correct me if I am not in strict accordance with the facts.

The Tousey Family in America

RICHARD TOUSEY, of England.

Settled at Saybrook, Conn., U. S. A., and afterwards lived in Wethersfield, Conn.

Married ..... in England.

Married second (in 1667) Dorothy, widow of John Edwards. (She was formerly widow of Abram Finch.)

"Ancient Wethersfield, Vol. 2, p. 321.

"Finch: Abram, Jr., was the one who was killed in the massacre April, 1636, leaving one only son, Abram 3d, then a minor, and who was adopted by his god-father 'Old Finch'. His widow Dorothy (said by Nathaniel Foote in Foote's genealogy to have been a daughter of Mathew Mitchell) married second John Edwards. Married third Richard Tousley of Saybrook, but by 1676 was a third time a widow."

There seems to have been a great variance in the spelling of the name. In the first U. S. census in 1790 I find the names of Tousey Brothers living in the same town spelled differently.

In Connecticut the record of Wills and Deeds is kept in the Town Clerk's office, and the Town Clerk acts as the Probate Judge.

The following is self-explanatory:

PROBATE COURT,
DISTRICT OF SAYBROOK,
Frederick L'Hommedieu, Judge.

Deep River, Conn.,

Theo. C. Rose,
Elmira, N. Y.

Dear Sir:

In reply to yours of January 7th, have copied all that is recorded on Saybrook Town Records regarding Richard Toosland.

The Town Records of the first twenty years were burned and lost, therefore there is nothing to locate him before his coming to Saybrook. The record describes the land but does not give any date of purchase or grant.

I have enclosed copies from Hartford Probate Records. As you have been in Hartford you may have the same.

Very truly yours,
Frederick L'Hommedieu,
Town Clerk."

The abovesaid lands that was by Dorothy Toosland sold to Thomas Bull is by the said Thomas Bull given to his son David Bull with all the privileges and appurtenances belonging thereto as doth appear by his last will and testament bearing date the 20th of August 1684.

Saybrook Land Records, Vol. 1 p. 7.

Aside from the foregoing the first record evidence I have of Richard Tousey is that of a town meeting in Saybrook January 7, 1655, at which we find among the names Richard Tousland.

History of Norwich, Conn. (Lenox Library)
Saybrook town meeting January 7, 1655.
Present Richard Tousland.

The next I find is in the Hall of Records at Hartford. Early Conn. Records (Probate), Vol. 1 page 132.

In the will of William Jackson of Saybrook I find a bequest to Richard Tousland of Twenty Shillings.

In the Saybrook record above referred to I find that Tousland's land was bounded on one side by land of Will Jackson.

In the record of the will of Thomas Bull, Hartford Probate Record, Vol. 4, pages 196-7, is the following:

"I give unto my son, David Bull, of Saybrook, all that of good wife Towsland in houseing and land in Saybrook, and give unto my son David 20 pounds out of my personal estate and also two of my best coats."

Will dated August 20, 1684; admitted to probate October 24, 1684.

Quoted from Savage:

"Tousland, Tousley, Towse or Tousey. Richard of Saybrook, perhaps had a wife and family before 1666, but in this year made contract of marriage with Dorothy, wid. of John Edwards, which had been widow of Abraham Finch of Wethersfield early in February, 1674, giving back to his wife the property she brought him.

THOMAS TOUSEY, son of Richard was born in England in 1650. Came to America in 1679, and died at Wethersfield, Conn., November 13, 1712. He was a weaver by trade and with William Pitkin owned a woolen mill in Hartford. He was a man of enterprise and standing in the community and in 1707 was detailed to take charge of one of the "fortified" houses in Wethersfield. He educated his son Thomas at Yale College, then located at Saybrook, where he was graduated in 1707.

I quote from "Ancient Wethersfield," page 706.

"Mr. Thomas Tousey died in 1712 in Wethersfield, aged 62, and hence must have been a son of Richard by an earlier wife. He was a weaver by trade and with William Pitkin part owner of a woolen mill in Hartford. In 1704 was detailed to take charge of one of the "fortified" houses in Wethersfield. He was the father of Elizabeth, wife of Josiah Churchill. By his will, dated November, 1712, he gave all his property to his daughter, except house, shop and barn and all land which he gave to his son (Rev.) Thomas. To John Northway 40 s.; to his apprentice John Wells he gave one weaver's loom and gears to weave drugget, serge, and kersey; to Mr. Buckely (Prob. Rev.) his interest in the fulling mill. He was a widower at death. It is not known how long he lived in Wethersfield. He was an ancestor of a secretary of the U. S. Navy, Isaac Tousey."

Thomas Tousey had at least two children.

Elizabeth Tousey, born 1685 and died October 28, 1751. May 8, 1706, she married Josiah Churchill, born January 28, 1676, and died August 22, 1751.

"Ancient Wethersfield" Styles, Vol. 2, page 223.

'Josiah Churchill (Benj. 2, Josiah 1) born 1676. Constable 1711. On School Committe 1714. Married 1706 Elizabeth (dau. of Thomas Tousey) Toucey who died October 1751 in 50th year. He died August 22, 1751."

Is called in County Court Records an attorney.

Their Children Were:

Arminal b. Feb. 20, 1709. May 14, 1730, m. Daniel Butler.

Prudence b. Dec. 20, 1710. Jan. 22, 1730, m. William Deming.

Hezekiah b. Aug. 20, 1712; d. June 24, 1714.

REV. THOMAS TOUSEY, son of Thomas Tousey b. 1688, d. March 14, 1761. Nov. 12, 1717, m. Hannah Clark. b..... d. Sept. 14, 1777. She was a daughter of Captain Samuel Clark of Milford, Conn.

(Cothrans History of Ancient Woodbury, Vol. 3, p. 239. Deaths: Sept. 14, 1777, Hannah Tousey.)

Atheneum Library, Hartford.

Ancient Wethersfield, Vol. 1, p. 706.

"Thomas Tousey (Rev.) of Wethersfield graduated at Yale, 1707. Studied Theology and first preached at Hebron. In May, 1713, he began to preach to a new settlement at Newtown, Conn., and terms of settlement were offered him in July, 1714. In May, 1715, the General Assembly, authorized the organization of a church there over which he was ordained Oct. 19, 1715. He resigned in March, 1724. Memoralizing the Assembly two months later to secure his receipt of his last two years dues (60 pounds and firewood) from the Newtown people, and speaks of himself as "sore broken in health, and as it may seem refusing recovery." Some of his flock, however, filed charges of dissatisfaction with him as a pastor. He was a large land owner and ultimately became a very influential citizen in Newtown; was commissioned a Captain of Militia in October, 1727, and thereafter was known by his military title; was made justice of the peace 1727, which office he held until his death in 1761. In 1751 he represented his town in the General Assembly for four sessions. Died at Newtown 14th March, 1761, aged seventy-one."

Of the Rev. Thomas Tousey's early days in Newtown, Conn., I quote from a most interesting historical paper presented by Miss Susan J. Scudder at the celebration of the 200th Anniversary of the Congregational church in Newtown in Oct. 1914.

"With the opening of spring we find the town making a serious effort to settle a minister among them, and at a "lawful town meeting of ye inhabitants of Newtown April 29, 1713, voted and agreed with Ebenezer Smith to go to Wethersfield to treat with Mr. Touse of Wethersfield and request him to come and give us a visit and preach a Sabbath or two with us, that we may have opportunity to discourse him in order to carry on ye work of ye ministry among us!" John Glover, Recorder. Mr. Tousey must have come at once and preached a Sabbath or two "for a month later, May 21, a committee was appointed 'to discourse and treat with Mr. Tousey of Wethersfield in order to settle amongst us to carry on ye ministry in this place. This meeting is adjourned until tomorrow night, sun half an hour high from ye date above.' Accordingly the next day while "the sun was yet half an hour high," and after a day spent doubtless in putting in their crops the good fathers gathered perhaps at the house of John Glover to settle upon the terms of payment to Rev. Thomas Tousey, and it was voted and agreed to give him "thirty pounds in money and also to sow all ye minister's home lot with wheat that is suitable. Mr. Tousee to have ye crop provided ye said Mr. Tousee preach ye Gospel Covenant to us a yeare ..... upon Probation in order to settlement."

Soon after Mr. Tousey was settled the town began to take the necessary steps toward building a house for the minister, which was speedily carried into completion. It stood on the ground opposite the Newtown Inn.

The name of Tousey is closely associated with the early history of the Connecticut Colony. Richard Tousey, the grandfather of Newtown's first minister was one of the pioneer settlers of Wethersfield.

Thomas Tousey, Jr., was born in Wethersfield in 1688 and graduated from Yale College in 1707. Tradition says he joined the little settlement in Newtown as early as 1709, and his name appears among the residents of the town in 1712.

Mr. Tousey relinquished his charge in March, 1724, "sore broken in health, and as it may seem refusing recovery" and two months later memoralized the General Assembly to secure the receipt of his last year's dues, sixty pounds and firewood.

I should fail in my duty as historian if I did not record something of the later history of this man who filled so large a place in the early affairs of this town, and whose descendants are among its influential and honored residents at the present time. After Mr. Tousey closed his pastorate over the church tradition says he went to England, and there received the commission of Captain in the King's Army. After his return he took up the practice of medicine in the town and became Newtown's first physician. An account book now in possession of one of his descendants shows that he sold drugs and medicines and attended the sick as early as 1737. He also became a large land-owner in the town and his name and the name of his wife, Hannah Clark of Milford, to whom he was married Nov. 12, 1717, appear in many of the early deeds.

In 1727 he was commissioned by the General Assembly as captain of a train band, and from 1728 until his death in 1761, a period of thirty-three years, he was justice of the peace. He was also Newtown's first representative in the General Court, being elected with John Northrop to that office in 1747. He also represented the town in 1748 and again 1754.

When his successor, Rev. John Beach, declared for the Church of England in 1732, Captain Tousey with Peter Hubbell and John Leavenworth was appointed in behalf of the town to write to the Reverend Ecclesiastical Council of Fairfield County for their assistance. Mr. Tousey died in 1761. A blue slate slab in what is known as the old part of our village cemetery marks the grave and bears the following inscription:

"Here lies interred the Body of Thomas Tousey, Esq.,
Who died March 14, 1761,
in the 74th year of his age.

Down to an impartial Grave's devouring shade
Sinks Human Honors and the Hoary Head
Protract your years, acquire what mortals can Here see with deep concern the end of Man."

Captain Tousey left a family of five daughters and four sons, some of whom settled in Newtown. His great grandson, Isaac Tousey, became governor of Connecticut in 1846. In 1850 he was chosen United States Senator and served five years, resigning in 1855 to take a place in President Buchanan's Cabinet as Secretary of the Navy."

The appendix contains the proceedings of the English Privy Council on the appeals of Samuel Clark against Thomas Tousey and others relative to the law governing descent and distribution of intestate estates 1737-1745, and also queries from the Board of Trade with answers thereto 1748-9.

Vol. 23, p. 461,

Contains an account of the case of Samuel Clark, oldest son of Samuel Clark, deceased, against Rev. Thomas Tousey.

"Having settled with all the co-heirs, excepting his brother-in-law Thomas Tousey, who had received a portion of the distributed estate in the right of his wife, and also as guardian of one of her minor brothers, that gentleman was left sole defendant by record. On Mr. Tousey's application, supported by Governor Law, the General Assembly in 1742 authorized a loan of 500 pounds from the Colony treasurer to enable Mr. Tousey to prosecute his defense in England against Clark's appeal."

Foot-note: "In his petition to the General Assembly Mr. Tousey suggested, "It is in vain to attempt a successful engagement in that battle without a good sword formed of the royal ore, the want of which, or its application was at least in part the occasion of Mr. Lechmere's fatal overthrow by Winthrop in 1728."

"The case was prepared with great care, the papers before transmission to England being submitted for final revision to John Reed, Esq., of Boston, 'The Pride of the bar; the light of the law; and chief among the wise, the witty and the elegant.'"

"Three years of litigation sufficed to bring the controversy to a successful issue in May, 1746. Mr. Tousey wrote to the General Assembly as follows: "The result through the smiles of Heaven was such as might rejoice the hearts of all true friends of our present happy constitution and real well wisher to our prosperity."

(Stephen Mix Mitchell was educated at Yale College, class of 1763. Received the degree LL.D. in 1807. The same year was appointed Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Conn.)

He was also grandfather of Donald Grant Mitchell, an accomplished man of letters, and familiarly known as "Ike Marvel," the author of "Reveries of a Bachelor."

Arminal afterwards, Nov. 14, 1771, married James Mitchell (1705-Feb. 1776) the father of Stephen Mix Mitchell. She was his third wife and he was over seventy at the time of their marriage. He was born in Scotland and came to America about 1730, and settled at Wethersfield.

Hon. Stephen Mix Mitchell, who married Hannah Grant, was the son of the second wife of James Mitchell, who was Rebecca Mix of Wethersfield.

A saying of James used to be current in the family: "My boy has ta'en the chick so I'll gather in the old hen."

Ancient Wethersfield, Vol. 2, page 507.

Stephen Mix Mitchell:

..... In the meantime he was pursuing the study of law under the direction of Hon. Jared Ingersoll. August 2, 1769, at the close of his tutorship he married a young lady of large fortune, Hannah, daughter of Donald Grant, an emigrant from Inverness, Scotland, to Newtown, Conn., and his wife Arminal (Tousey) Grant. The event was commemorated by an epithelamum, written by John Trumbull, which has repeatedly appeared in print. (eg. In the Portfolio, Phila. 1805 Vol. 5, pp. 319-320).

ELIZABETH TOUSEY (Rev. Thomas 3, Thomas 2, Richard 1) born Nov. 26, 1721. Died Dec. 15, 1740. Married John Cooke (March 30, 1715-1815) (Grandson of Gov. Leete of Conn.)

Children of Elizabeth Tousey Cooke

Anna Cooke, born Dec. 13, 1740; died July 15, 1814. Sept. 23, 1770, married Haynes Fitch (Jan. 22, 1735, Norwalk, Conn.-Aug. 11, 1815, Ellsworth, Trumbull Co. O.)

"Norwalk" by Rev. C. M. Selleck, A. M. Vol. 1, p. 203. "The Norwalk" (as well as the Norwalk-Canaan) Cooke-Leete blood, is a matter of deserved registration, and its interesting and hitherto intricate story runs evidently thus: John, born March 30, 1715, son of Rev. Samuel and Anna (Trobridge) Cooke, married first Elizabeth Tousey, and as it would appear John and Elizabeth had a daughter born Dec. 13, 1740. The infant's mother died only a few days after her only child's birth. Hannah Tousey of Newtown, Conn., who May 12, 1752, married Josiah Hooker, was the aunt of Anna Cooke. After the decease of Anna's mother the child was brought to Norwalk and became a member of the family of Rev. Stephen Buckingham, whose wife was a grand-aunt of Josiah Hooker. She was so highly esteemed by the clergyman, (who had no children of his own) that he bequeathed to her his valuable library of one thousand volumes, which it is said was purchased in England. This library stood in his house, which occupied the east side of East avenue, and the present site of the intersection of the N. Y. N. H. & H. R. R. with said avenue. The library it is supposed was destroyed by Tryon, thirty-five years after the decease of its original owner. Anna Cooke lived to marry Haynes Fitch, son of Jarvis and (Mrs.) Mary (Buckingham) Fitch. Haynes and Anna (Cooke) Fitch were married Sept. 23, 1770, and had

Hannah Tousey Fitch, born July 4, 1771.

He was graduated from Indiana Asbury University (now Depauw) 1843; began the practice of law at Indianapolis, 1845; was reporter of the Supreme Court of Indiana 1853 to 1857. He was as a Republican elected to Congress for two successive terms serving there during that interesting and sometimes exciting period 1857 to 1863; his Committee membership being chiefly the Judiciary. He was appointed First Comptroller of the Treasury in 1878, and served until nominated for Governor of Indiana. He was United States Minister to Italy 1889 to 1892. He was for some years engaged in collecting material and preparing manuscript for a history of Indiana but his health having failed he was obliged, to his deep regret, for his heart was in the work, to suspend in the middle of his labor and he could not afterwards return to it. He died in Indianapolis in 1897.

Willie K. Tousey, born Feb. 6, 1857. Died Aug. 22, 1858.

(Thomas K. Tousey and family reside at Houston, Texas).

Thomas, son of Rev. Thomas, settled in Woodbury, Conn., and died there. His sons, Zera, Thomas and Moses, migrated to Durham, Greene Co., N. Y., and from there in 1803, to Boone Co., Ky., where they settled on the Ohio River and commenced a settlement called Touseytown, which became a favorite stopping place for the boatmen on the river. For a time the town prospered, but when Lawrenceburg on the opposite side of the river began to have a rapid growth Touseytown dwindled to a suburb. In 1832 Omer Tousey, a son of Moses Tousey, purchased the Vance homestead in Lawrenceburg. It is said that immediately thereafter it became a center of social activity. The grand balls and dinners held there are still recalled, Tousey's ownership lending to it a prestige that reached far and wide, and gave the place the name of its hospitable owner. In the Tousey House were entertained some of the foremost men of the day, Congressmen, U. S. Senators, and including almost every Governor of Indiana, as well as William Henry Harrison, former President of the U. S. There, too, Albert G. Porter, afterward Governor of Indiana, spent his boyhood, Omer Tousey being his uncle. Mr. Tousey dispensed hospitality with an open hand, and the balls he gave every Christmas Eve to rich and poor are often recalled by the older inhabitants. After Tousey's death the fame of the old place died, "and the days of its celebracy remained, but in the lavender and old lace of memory." Afterward it was suggested that the city purchase the house and convert it into a public library and museum, but the project failed.

Among the subsequent occupants was one Dr. Isaac Brower, who served in the Third Indiana Regiment, in the Mexican War, as surgeon. He afterwards went to California and the Fiji Islands, and acquired an immense fortune. Somewhere in the Tousey House Isaac Brower is believed to have secreted the wealth he thus accumulated, and hence the question is often asked, "Is there vast treasure concealed in the Tousey House at Lawrenceburg?"

From these early pioneers descended what may be termed the Western branch of the Tousey family.

The following inscriptions appear on tombstones at Touseytown:

Phoebe Prindle, born Feb. 4, 1763. Bap. Feb. 11, 1763. Died.....

Currence Prindle, born..... Bap. Nov. 5, 1766. Died June 24, 1794. Married Nathan Preston (born Jan. 20, 1756. Died Sept. 20, 1822). (Son of Jehiel and Betterus Mitchell Preston).

Josiah Prindle, born..... Bap. Oct. 26, 1766. Died.....

In a deed of Sept. 21, 1773, he (Abel) describes himself as of Lanesborough, Berkshire Co., Mass.

He served in the Crown Point expedition as appears from the following record:

Camp at Fort William Henry,
Oct. 13, 1756.

This may certify that the men within mentioned not present at muster are at the places mentioned against each of their names annexed, and are absent for no other reason than those assigned, and are part of the effectives of the company under my command.

STEPHEN LEE, Lieut. Co.
ABEL PRINDLE,
Clerk of Company.

He also served in the Revolutionary War as appears from the following abstract from the Revolutionary War Archives of the State of Massachusetts.

"Abel Prindle appears with the rank of private on pay roll of Capt. Ebenezer Newell's Company, Col. Symonds' Regt. Time of service six days. Company marched from Lanesborough to Meloomscuyck, Aug. 14, 1777, on an alarm. Mileage (35 miles) allowed said Prindle. Vol. 21, 135.

The latter place mentioned is the present Walloomsac, N. Y., where the Battle of Bennington was fought Aug. 16, 1777.

History of Berkshire Co., Mass., Vol. 2, page 104.

When the alarm went through the Berkshire town that the stores at Bennington were to be attacked by the Hessians under Col. Baum; this town (Lanesborough) furnished its contingent and three of the soldiers perished in battle. So intense was the feeling against the Tories, that in the town record beautifully written and bordered with heavy black lines is the following tribute to the two officers who were then killed, Lieut. Abel Prindle of Lanesborough, in the County of Berkshire, State of Massachusetts Bay, departed this life on the 16th day of August, Anno Christ, 1777, being shot through the head at Bennington fight, supposed to be done by one Solomon Samuel Bunnell, a Tory and neighbor townsman of his, who had turned to the enemy and was found under arms and taken prisoner at Bennington fight, who confessed he had done his best to kill his neighbor. The poor man not only received his mortal wound by this infidel, but was taken out of time and sent into the eternal world of spirits instantaneously, that is, not one moment of time to think or prepare himself for his great last change; but we have reason to believe God will be merciful to those who died in so just a cause. Thus departed this life as good a friend to the American cause perhaps as ever was born, and we trust there is laid up for him a crown of glory.

"Genealogy of Prindle Family" Kindness of Rear Admiral Franklin C. Prindle, retired, of Washington.

"Puritan Settlers of Conn."

Major Bull in his old age married Widow Prindle of Newtown, the mother-in-law of Nathan Preston and Mrs. Asa Stoddard, then of Woodbury.

"Campaigning with Sherman"

By Maj. General Oliver Otis Howard.

Page 14.

Lately I have seen the claim of a Tennessee woman, Elizabeth Tousey, for a reward. She says that when she was young at the risk of her life she guided our soldiers to and across that ford before the bridge was made. After we left she and her family were forced to flee the country in terror. She is now living in Kansas. (This ford was six miles above Loudon).

George Z. Tousey's Money.

These heirs came forward after the Commonwealth claims the Estate.

George C. Tousey died in his 80th year in April, 1881, at 208 South Eighth street. He left more than $10,000. No will was found. He was not known to have any relatives and the Commonwealth claimed the Estate. When the matter reached the Orphans Court, however, claims were put in by George Carlton Wood, Benjamin French and Elizabeth Knight who all claimed to be cousins of the dead man. The Court referred the case to a Master with instructions to ascertain who was next of kin to the decedent if any one. A report was filed yesterday. The Master had advertised he said, but found no further claimants. The old man had been a wanderer from childhood. He had been all over the world but singularly enough the report said he left no trace by which he could be followed from city to city. But in his declining years the report continued, he showed in his letters and in his conversations with those around him an intense yearning natural to an aged man to be brought into close companionship with those of his own kin. The claims to kindred of Mr. Wood and the others he said had been fully proved and he gave judgment in their favor and a decree dividing the Estate among them. The report remains to be acted upon by the Court.
